Changes . . . Past

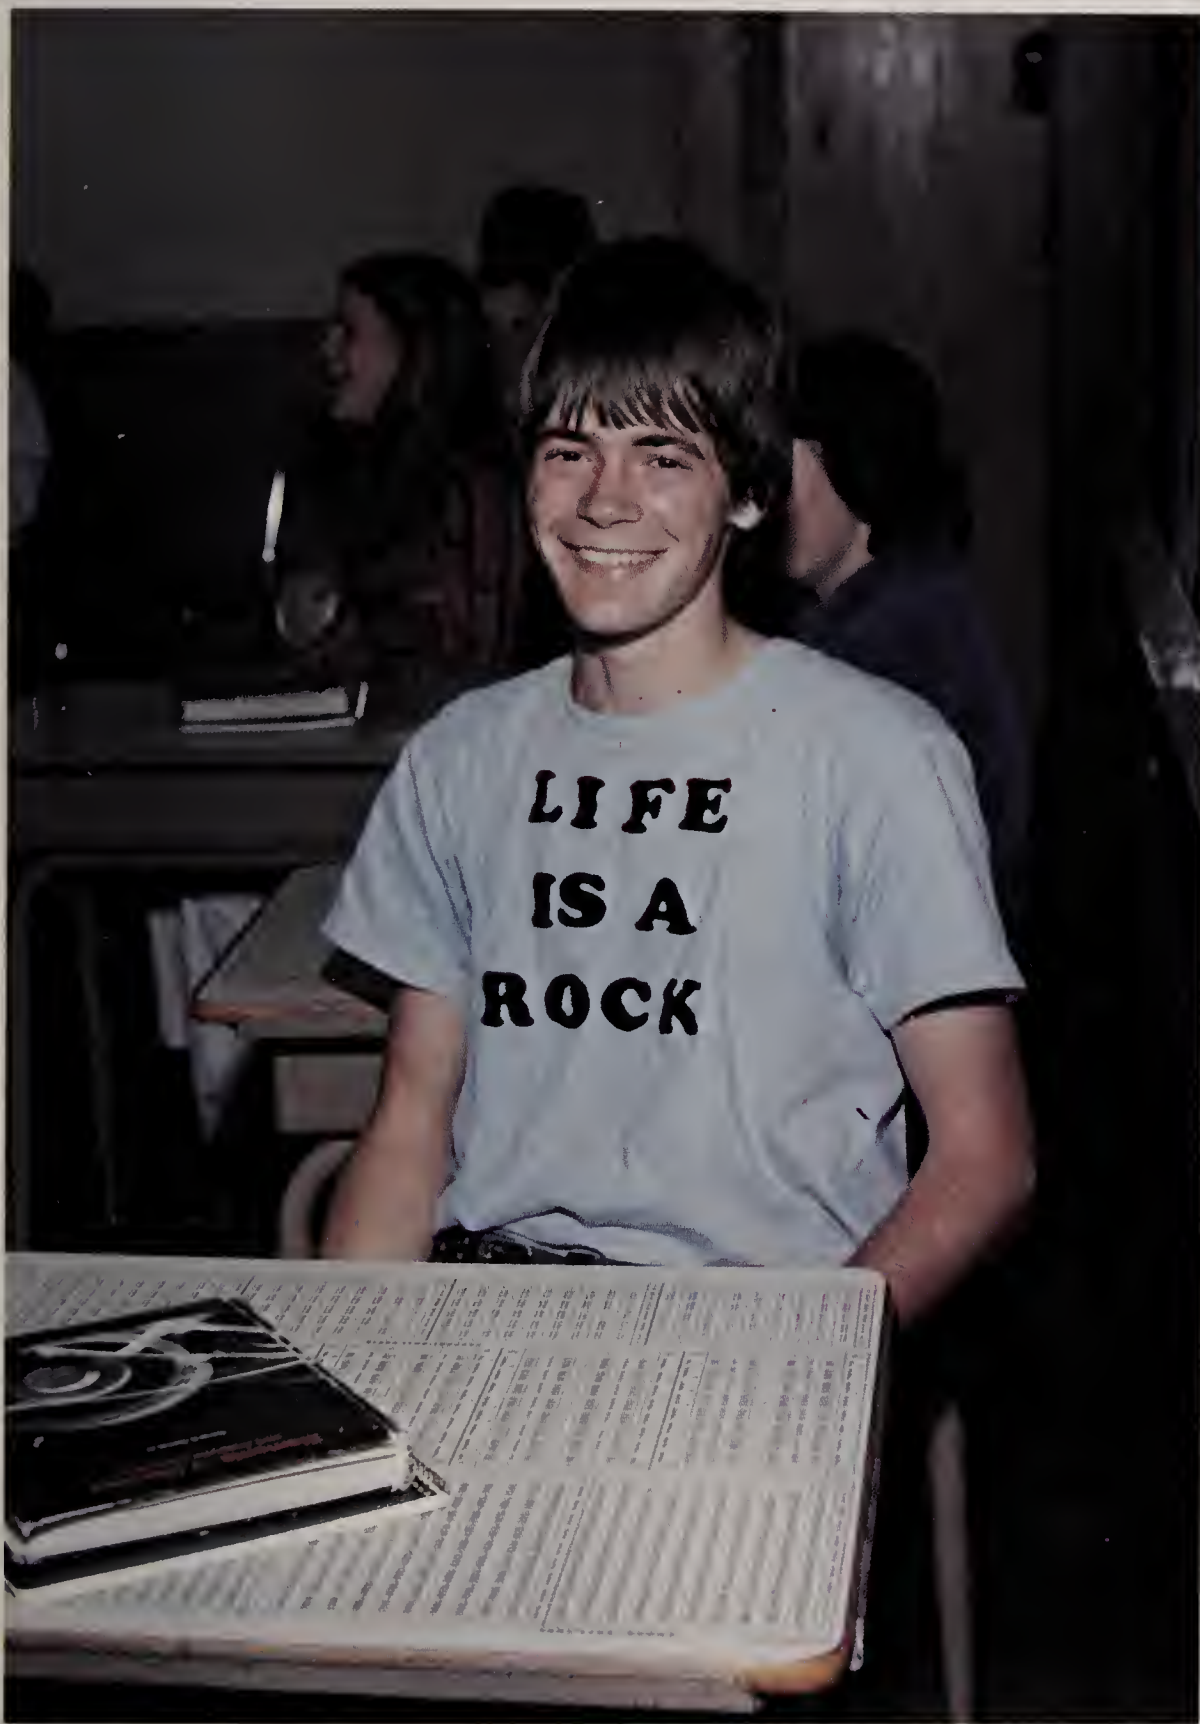

In the fall of 1978, the Class of 1981 entered Winchester High School as sophomores. Leaving the security of Lynch or McCall, we were forced to adapt to our new surroundings. To our sophomore eyes the high school was large and mysterious. Finding our homeroom or the gym was quite a feat. High school also brought more responsibility and more freedom. We were allowed to attend the school dances, and have open campus, but we also had a lot more expected of us by the teachers and our parents.

Junior year brought on more changes. Not only did the workload increase, but the social side of life also increased. With the newly attained driver's license freedom was easily attainable and the weekends became much more enjoyable. There was also a serious side to our junior lives. As we took the PSAT, we were practicing for "The big one" in the spring. Grades became more important and our minds wandered to senior year and beyond. In these two years we changed tremendously from little sophomores to almost seniors. We were now prepared to become W.H.S.'s senior class.

Changes . . . Present

Although college and the future are very much on our minds, it is the present which is most important to us. As seniors our biggest change is learning to enjoy our last year as a class together. As soon as the year began, we all realized that this was our last chance to do it. We would never reunite as a class next September. This is it. Now. The Present. Together we prepare for our last shot at the SAT's, fill out college applications, look for jobs, party, laugh, and enjoy each other's company. Time is precious to us and we have none to waste. All the laughter and sorrow must be completed by this June. We realize that we are actually almost adults and we are almost ready to go through another passage in life, graduation. But for now, the present is ours to use and to enjoy. As we face another of life's many changes, we must prepare ourselves to face the future. The Class of 1981 changed together, and is changing together, but the changes of the future are to be met alone.

SENIORS

"Into every life a little change must come." At no time perhaps, is this more true than the senior year of high school which marks the beginning of the transition period between dependency on one's parents and self-sufficiency.

To get to this point, however, was not easy. We first had to start as shy, unknowing sophomores. We were the babies of the high school. Then onto junior year where we became more sure of ourselves and gained more prestige.

This was our last year at Winchester High School. From here we went our separate ways. But before we parted, we, the class of 1981, made sure it was our best year ever.

“Here’s lookin’ at you . . . ”

Every year it’s the senior class who dominates the yearbook. They are the ones who are in all the candid, sport, and activity pictures.

This year, it is finally the Class of 1981’s turn to be the focal point of the yearbook. They are the ones who are in the photographs.

Although not everyone will admit it, the first thing anyone looks for in the yearbook is his or her own picture. Some people attack the photographer, while others hide under tables, behind taller people, in closets, and in various other weird places. The Class of 1981 includes both of these types. Hopefully, everyone will find themselves in the 1981 Aberjona. As the title says, Class of 1981, “Here’s lookin’ at you . . . ”

The shy and reserved Elaine Pigott.

"A sprinkle a day . . . " — Cathy Chen

Did we wake you up, Alison? — Alison McPhail

Above: "You ought to be in pictures . . . " — Diane Uglietto

... to relax with in the courtyard. — Darryl Brian, Mikie Darcy, Gary Walsh, Linda Ruma, Susan Thomas, Kate Kent

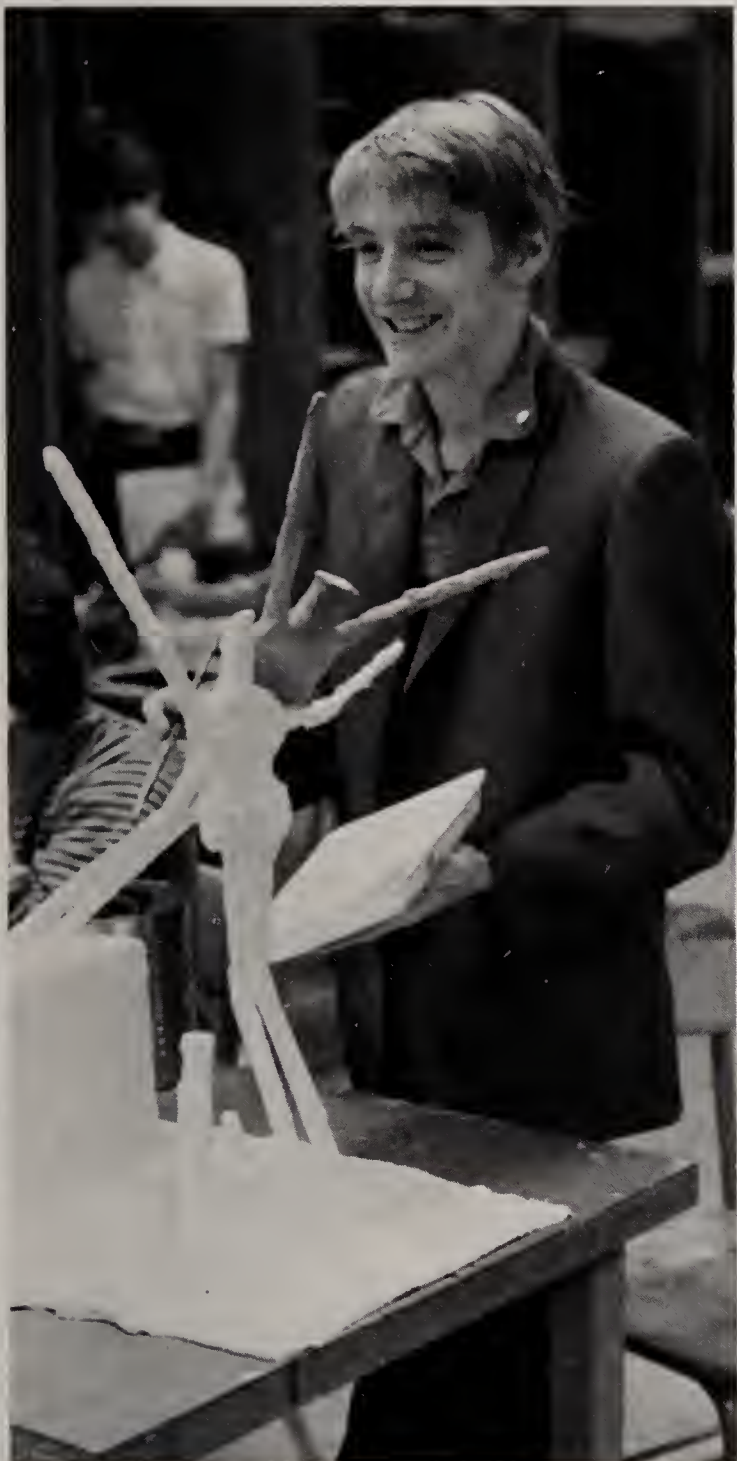

... to share secrets with. — Molly Gibson, Carol Vangell have friends . . . ”

. . . to be yourself. — Wally Gagel.

. . . to watch other people eat their lunch. — Diane Franchi, Chris Jones, Hisao Yatsuhashi

. . . to laugh with in the corridors. — Rich Beal, Judy Cammarata

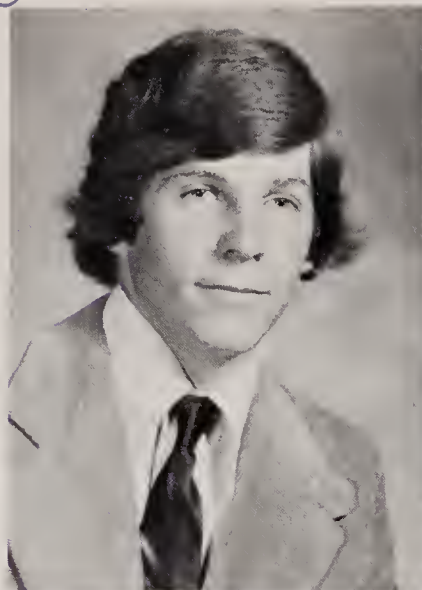

. . . to pose with for a picture. — Monica DeBiase, Laurie Gleason, Peter Gittleman

. . . Friends. Friends mean something special to each and everyone of us. They are the people who help us make the memories of today, which we will remember for the rest of our lives. Friends are people who help us pass through life's changes with a little less heartache.

Within the Class of 1981, each member of the senior class has found his own friends. Those friends are what have made this year at W.H.S. special. They helped us party on the weekends, study for tests, accept rejection from a college, realize that a lost love isn't everything, and they made this past year the best one ever! We will all remember the friends we made at W.H.S.

Dear "Mr. Pirani"

UNDERCLASSMEN

This September brought many changes for the underclassmen in the school. Both the ninth and the tenth graders were new to the school, resulting in much confusion for the first few weeks. The feelings of confusion and excitement could be seen on their faces as they struggled to get through the crowded corridors from class to class. Now that they have adjusted they fit right into the school. The juniors, an important part of our school, also had to adjust to a school that has changed greatly since last year, and they face the worries of taking college tests, getting driver's licenses, and studying for all their classes. These underclassmen play an important role in the school. On many teams they hold important positions and their vitality helps draw the teams together. In other school activities and clubs the underclassmen's spirit and participation also are important. As the size of the school decreases in coming years the school spirit evident in today's freshmen, sophomores, and juniors will strengthen the bonds between them, and they will continue to enjoy the school's sports and activities together.

Freshmen

The 1984 class has begun a new era at Winchester High. The 1980-1981 school year is the first year that the ninth graders have attended the High School.

Coming to the "Big High School" as ninth graders was not easy. They missed much of the excitement that other years experienced as ninth graders. The thrill of being the "big people" in the school was stripped from this year's ninth graders; they did not have the traditional ninth grade semi-formal, they did not get to play in the top sports positions, and they could never think that they were the most intelligent and sophisticated in the school.

In exchange for these drawbacks, the ninth graders were granted the challenge of discovery one year earlier. This year's ninth graders were given the opportunity to become acquainted with and to grow in a setting with more mature people. They also have the challenge of competing with older kids from whom they can learn a great deal, as well as the advantage of the better facilities offered at the high school.

The freshman class has adjusted quite well to the change, and they have been extremely successful in the sports and activities offered here. The ninth grade looks forward to a great four years at the high school.

Sophomores

The first day for sophomores was confusing but thanks to the help of seniors and juniors their day was less hectic. They started with a talk from the administration followed by a question and answer period conducted by the upperclassmen.

After accustoming themselves to the school and getting to know the other "half", the sophomores had their first big election. As usual each position had candidates from both the Lynch class and the McCall class. The new officers planned many things for this year, one of which was selling Sachem bumper stickers.

In sports this year the sophomore class exalted. They all achieved in some way at soccer, football, swimming, field hockey, golf, and x-country. If they were not varsity players this year, they are the depth for varsity next year. Not only were they contributors in sports but in activities too. They have contributed their spirit and time to all of the clubs and activities around the school. The clubs cannot revolve around upperclassmen alone; they need the sophomores to support them.

Academically the sophomores were not lacking. They brought enjoyment in classes to their teachers. They also were willing to compete with the upperclassmen in advanced courses and to work hard no matter what course they were in.

Although they had a great time at school, sophomores looked forward to the weekends. The sophomores could not drive yet and they were not welcome at senior parties, but they had fun anyway. They went to the dances at Lincoln School and ate ice cream together at Brigham's. This year's Sophomore class will contribute much to the high school in the next three years.

Juniors

The hallway gang — M. Mulkerin, K. McDonald, J. Howland, S. Smyly, J. Monteith, S. Pasquale, M. Madigan, C. Conley.

The junior year was a year full of new experiences. Many 11th graders got their licenses just in time for the major social event of the season; the Junior Prom. The Class of '82 also participated in other social events during the school year. Whether they attended school dances, went to parties, or went out cruising, they knew how to have a good time.

In athletics many juniors began to participate as the competition stiffened. Because they made up a large and important part of the varsity teams, the juniors experienced their first varsity playing time. If they could not make the varsity teams, the juniors competed for the junior varsity. Here, they received the knowledge necessary for varsity play, and they realized that they would have many chances for success in the future.

Probably the most important, although not the most enjoyable aspect of the junior year was academics. The PSAT's, SAT's, achievement tests, and classes had to be endured throughout the year. The Class of '82 began to realize that their futures and college were important and not far away, so they worked to do their best. Their efforts will help them succeed in the future as they have succeeded this year. This year's Senior class wishes the junior class good luck next year and in the future.

FACULTY

The faculty members at Winchester High have helped us change and grow both academically and personally during our years of high school. They have worked as our coaches and activities' advisors, have given us extra help, and have dealt with our personal problems. By exploring the world around us, whether it be customs in Japan or the size of the universe, the teachers have allowed us to learn not only about our subject matter, but about ourselves as well. They have helped us develop our personal traits, decide what is important, and have aided us in planning for our future. For all the time and effort you have used to recognize, encourage, and develop our talents; we thank you.

THE SPIRIT OF DEDICATION

"Life is short and we never have enough time for those who travel the way with us, be swift to love, make haste to be kind."

Henri Amiel

For your sincere interest in our development and needs, for your cheerful personality, and for your never-ending patience. We, the Class of 1981, dedicate our yearbook to you, Mrs. Joanne Kirk.

ADMINISTRATION

To The Class of 1981:

During our Opening Day Exercises this past September, I expressed some thoughts to you about leadership and the challenges that you would face in your senior year.

It was interesting to note that some students said, "We've heard all that before". However, now with your graduation from High School, the same statements can be made and they undoubtedly will be heard many times in the future - for the simple fact, or truism if you like, is that life is unmistakably a challenge!! How we meet this challenge requires that we provide leadership every step of the way in our own lives as well as leadership in a much broader sense. The demands on you to meet these obligations will not lessen, but will only grow as you mature.

You have met the challenges confronting you this past year with the leadership qualities that I have found to be exemplary. It is my hope that you carry over into the future those same attributes which you have so ably demonstrated in your years at Winchester High School.

GUIDANCE

The guidance counselors work diligently throughout the year dealing with students, parents, the community, and administrative paper work. They help students to realistically evaluate their capabilities, achievements, and interests, to identify and solve personal problems, and to resolve schedule conflicts. Discussions about course selection and college applications aid students in preparing for the future. To assist school administration in long range planning the Guidance Department conducts research and compiles data related to the student, school, and community. The Department remains much the same from year to year. However this year a new counselor, Ms. Murray, has been added, and there have been group introductory programs for the ninth and tenth graders.

OFFICE

The four women who work in the office and Mrs. Sullivan, the school nurse, are constantly busy. Mrs. Graustein is Mr. Larocco's private secretary, the office manager, and the leader for the Office Staff. Mrs. Gardner, the office secretary, keeps track of all the money that goes in and out of the school. The Registrar, Mrs. Stevens, tabulates the students' absences and tardies, and supervises the withdrawal, the admission of students leaving and entering the school. The Receptionist, Mrs. Lacey, takes telephone calls, types the absentee and announcement sheets, and sells lunch tickets. Mrs. Sullivan, works from 7:45 to 3:15 aiding students who are sick.

LIBRARY

The Library is undoubtedly one of the busiest and most used places in the school. It is the resource center for assignments and projects. Humanities students use the reference material frequently. All materials for Art History are located in the library. There are prints posted on bulletin boards, slides that can be viewed before tests, and numerous art books that can be studied. The library is also a social center. Students with free periods come there to meet other kids and talk in the friendly atmosphere. Because there are double the number of students in study halls this year, there has been increased use of the library.

ENGLISH

The English program at W.H.S. emphasizes both structure and creativity. Language skills, the writing process, and a critical reading of literature are combined by an English Department that understands the importance of having a curriculum that is sequential so that what is taught in 9th grade is strengthened and built upon as the student progresses through his High School Career.

FOREIGN LANGUAGE

This year there are both new faces and new courses in the foreign language department with the addition of the ninth grade. Mr. Castellano and Mrs. Hastings moved from Lynch to the high school. Mrs. Bennke, Mrs. Heaton, and Mrs. Loch were also added to the staff. Spanish I advanced and French I advanced are now offered at the high school and ninth graders are enrolled for the first time in German, Italian, and Latin classes. More students than ever are preparing for advanced placement exams in French and Spanish.

MATH

Math, "The Queen of Sciences", is an essential part of everyday life whether it be in the form of a bridge construction using the laws of trigonometry or in the calculation of the price of a refrigerator using simple arithmetic. Math is the founder of all other sciences and is the building block of almost every other field in the technologies. The math department at Winchester High offers courses from basic algebra to advanced placement calculus. This gamet of courses insures that there is a math class for everyone.

SCIENCE

The Winchester Science Program places emphasis on providing opportunities for students to "discover" key concepts and relationships through hands-on experiences. Laboratory work provides personal experiences for students that enables them to answer some important questions on the basis of their own observations and experiments. The Science Department has increased in size this year in both its number of students, teachers, and curriculum. Aside from the changes required by the entrance of the 9th grade, an Honors and an A.P. Physics course have been added for upperclassmen.

SOCIAL STUDIES

Social Studies, what is it? The question most frequently asked is best answered by listing the disciplines included in Social Studies: History, Geography, Anthropology, Sociology, Psychology, Economics, Political Science. The 1980-81 school year and the next will see changes in the high school program. The ninth grade offerings have gone from three half-year offerings to two full-year courses in Ancient History and Consumer Economics. The tenth year required course is now Global History: the Emergence of the Modern World and next year the eleventh grade required course will be America and the Modern World.

INDUSTRIAL ARTS

The Industrial Arts Department is an organized educational program which lead to an understanding of all aspects of industry and technology. Students are assisted in making informed and meaningful occupational choices, or are prepared for entry into advanced trade and industrial or technical education programs. With the addition of the 9th graders to the department, the area has been torn down and rebuilt to accomodate more classes.

HOMEECONOMICS

High School Home Economics is the field of knowledge that prepares teenagers for the personal responsibilities of adulthood and family life. ART

The Art Department offers creative and structured experiences which meet both the varied skills and interests of the students. Because they may take Advanced Art for as many as three consecutive years after completing Art I, the course must be different every year. This year a semester course was added that enables students with heavy schedules to take art.

BUSINESS

The Business Education Department is helping students keep up with the rapid pace of technology. Along with clerical skills, accounting, and business-related courses, many college-bound students have enhanced their skills by taking type-writing courses for personal and professional use.

PHYSICAL ED.

The Physical Education Department has tried to prepare its students to live actively; to understand the relationship between regular physical exercise and health; and to choose recreational activities from the many they have experienced. Their goal is to instill an understanding of the principle that the body, mind, and spirit are interrelated. This year P. E. has added aerobic dancing to their course selection, but unfortunately the junior and senior electives have had to be reduced from five choices to two. Next year the department hopes to do more with project adventure.

SPECIAL NEEDS

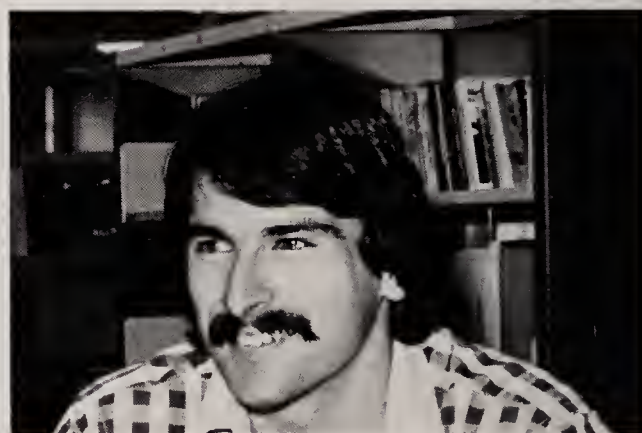

RESOURCE ROOM

C.L.I.P.

The Career-Life Information Program is the only alternative program in Winchester High School. Academic skills are applied to a variety of situations students will face following graduation. A Career Education component includes aptitude testing, career exploration and actual work experience. This program is the only area of the high school that offers career exploration. When the C.L.I.P. Program was first offered four years ago, all of the students elected to work in the afternoon. Now we find that more students choose to take afternoon classes to improve their job skills. The C.L.I.P. Program was originally designed to attract students who were not planning to attend college after graduation. We now find that many of our students are choosing to enter two-year colleges and technical schools.

The Audio/Visual Department does all A/V production work for the school system and town citizenship. It rents films and has a Media Software Center which keeps inventory, checks all materials in and out, and inspects, cleans, and splices all films. SPORTS

Sports played a major role in changing the lives of the students of Winchester High. By joining a team a student became a member of a special family. By enduring the grueling practices and the early Saturday morning workouts, individual members united into a team. Together teammates developed their skills; coordinated their plays; and learned from their mistakes. When the time came to meet their rivals face to face in competition they were prepared to give the Sachem

Try.

Throughout the seasons the athletes learned to work together as a team and to display the sportsmanship Winchester High is known for. They learned how to accept victory as well as defeat. They learned that it was how you play a game that mattered most. It was through experiences on and off the field that they gained knowledge that no classroom could provide.

But sports meant different things to different people. To some it was a Saturday afternoon at Knowlton Stadium or cheering on the girls' soccer team. These people, the fans, played their part by applauding the team when they won and consoling them when they lost.

This was what Winchester High's sports were all about. Whether a fan or an athlete, sports left them with a feeling of pride or accomplishment; Sachem Spirit! It was the Sachem Spirit that enabled them to continue and always strive to do their best.

Thanks Mr. P . . .

One of the most difficult changes that a person must learn to adjust to is the loss of a true friend. For twenty-nine years Mr. Frank Provenzano was one of the best friends the athletes of Winchester had. He served the students of our community faithfully for nearly three decades as trainer, teacher, and coach at either Lynch or the High School. But more important he was a friend to all; truly concerned with the individual. He offered continual support and inspiration to all aspiring athletes of Winchester. He was the embodiment of "Sachem Spirit". It is for him and for this reason that all Sachem's are striving to be #1 this year.

From all of us:

Girls X-Country runs away with League Championship

The WHS girls Cross Country team finally made it. A lot of hard work, determination, and a little confidence enabled them to complete their season undefeated. Their efforts included a big 22-33 win over their arch-rivals, Reading and an impressive second place finish in the State meet at Franklin Park. This team was led by senior Tri-captains Mary Boland, Pam Brickley, and Lauren Fryklund. It also included many promising new faces like the fabulous freshman Laurie Glynn, plus Eileen Conley, Marie Doocey, Sandy Jordan, Jean Senna, and many others.

In addition to their great success the harriers will always remember the good times: Track is a psychological manifestation, swimming in the Res, Pam's "Kill Reading" buttons, ATTITUDE, Johnson Road . . . again ugh! Are we running the old course, the new course, or the new new course? Daddy C, ice-cream for breakfast. Do it for the groin. Little Buckaroo. Another one bites the dust!

The Tri-captains and all the other graduating seniors would like to wish the underclassmen continued success in the years to come. We would also like to give a special thanks to Mr. Cantillon and Mr. Maloney for a fantastic season!

The best darn 3-6 team . . .

The boy's Cross Country team started their 1980 season slowly, but improved continually ending their season with some excellent performances. They finished with a 3-6 record which is not really indicative of the talent of the team. Although they had many early losses to Lexington, Wakefield, Watertown, and Woburn, they avenged them by beating these teams in the League Meet where they finished an impressive third place. They also came in sixth in the Eastern Ma. Division B. championships.

The team was led by senior tri-captains John Provenzano, John Wiseman and Mark Schwartzman. However the varsity consisted of mostly underclassmen like junior Pat Kennedy, the team's leading scorer. Sophomore Hugh Murray was the consistent second place harrier. Joe "Dude" Callahan, a junior, and Barry Sirchis, a freshman, battled for 3rd place on the team. Mark Schwartzman, Peter Quine and Richard Rooney were other strong varsity runners.

They will always remember: SLEIGH RIDE!! The infamous Provenzano supper (S&M) . . . Dissention . . . Indiana State . . . No mind, No class . . . "It's Provo, It's Provo" . . . The best darn 3-6 team you'll ever find.

We play the field

Another season ended for the Winchester Field Hockey Team. Unfortunately the record 4/10/2 did not display the effort and skill that the team possessed. With the coming of the freshmen and new recruits from the Sophomore class the team had a total of 31 players. Captains Alice Greene and Kathy Looney did a spectacular job keeping the team together on and off the field. Even though in the past, Field Hockey has been regarded as second key to other fall sports. This year was an exception. The team succeeded in making themselves known.

Spirit was the key to their success. By decorating the girls locker room and wearing matching shirts with the slogan "Field Hockey Players Play The Field" printed on it, they let everyone know they were alive and swinging. Even off the field they kept their spirit, even though a few underclassmen had to pay the penalties of the terrible senior court. Another key to their success was their parties, whether it be for dinner, breakfast, or one particular party at the Cowen household. But whether the final record showed their efforts or not they were a unique team. Who else has the football team cheer at their games? Good Luck next year and keep up the Spirit!

The 1980 Sachems had a tough act to follow. Last year's 8-2 record seemed a far cry from anything this team would accomplish. But deep down the Sachems knew what they could do.

The season started off with a bang as the tough city boys from Somerville fell 27-7. Then the giants from Lexington toppled to a 19-7 defeat, and many fans jumped on the Sachem bandwagon. The team coasted to six straight victories. Suddenly, however, they stumbled and found themselves with back to back losses.

The Sachems had too much pride to fold up though, and behind the charge of captains Gill and Errico, they rebounded by crushing Reading 35-7.

Then came the Thanksgiving Day Classic against the Woburn Tanners. Before 13,000 the Sachems got the long awaited win over arch rival Woburn.

In a year full of memories the team will never forget the infamous "screw crew", the one day a week superstars, "Let's go live", and the secrets of post game play? And we did it all for the man we love, respect, and who will never be replaced in Winchester High athletics, the great Mr. P.

Bouley's B's . . .

The boy's soccer team had a unique and successful season. This was a year for firsts. The team beat Wakefield for the first time in 7 years and made it to the semi-finals at the State Tournament for the first time ever. At the outset of the season Coach Bouley worried that a highly talented but individually personalized team would have trouble meshing into a finely tuned unit. However the diversification only served to enhance the team on and off the field. Tri-captains Brian Donnellan, James Fallon, and Neal Frink led the team to a 14-1-3 record for a second place finish in the league and a semi-final state play off berth.

Sachemettes go undefeated once again

Once again the Girls' Varsity soccer team completed their season by going undefeated. Their record was 14-0-2 making them the Middlesex-Merrimack league champions for the third year in a row. Achieving this title, however, was not enough, they wanted to win it all. Displaying a tremendous amount of enthusiasm and energy the girls entered the E. Mass state tournament. They succeeded in reaching the semi-finals.

In the past years, the girls had been unable to get this far in the tournament, this was a major accomplishment for the team. Unfortunately they were defeated in the semi-finals and could not achieve the goal of being state champions. Naturally all were disappointed by this loss but thinking back the girls agreed that it was one of the most successful and enjoyable seasons they've had.

Many thanks to coach Christopher Scanlon for the time and energy he spent in making the team what it is today. Thanks, also, to the parents and fans for their support. Lots of luck to the Girls' Varsity soccer team of 1982!

Tumblettes win award

The tumblettes have added great spirit to the sidelines of the Winchester football games. They displayed their skills, in gymnastics with difficult moves and in coordinating routines. Co-captain Maryellen Madigan and Lisa Zirkel led the tumblettes through a great season. They won first place in the non-musical color guard competition of the Medford 350 Celebration Parade. The sixteen tumblettes who consisted of seven seniors have held up the tradition of Sachem Spirit by providing half-time entertainment for the many football fans. Despite the chilling cold they continued to roll and are looking forward to another season in 1982.

Cheerleaders have another high scoring season

With pompoms flying and legs swinging, the Winchester cheerleading squad represented the Sachem Spirit at sporting events. Co-captains Denise Fava and Linda Marotta succeeded in pulling their squad together for a full season of cheering, toilet-paperings, and merry-making. Not only did they cheer for the boys' football, soccer, hockey, and basketball, teams but they also made an appearance at the Girls' State Soccer Tournament. My, my what next?

Girls' Basketball team shoots for a good season!

The 1980-81 girls basketball team started their season with a win and potential for great success. Returning from last years squad were senior co-captains Kathy Corkery and Ann Porell who continually tried to lead their team to victory. Joanne Maloney and Martha Doherty were other outstanding performers who had seen varsity action last year. Seniors Therese Aylward and Carol Donahoe were also part of the varsity squad. The team members were all kept on their toes by Donna Tanner and her coaching.

Through-out the season the team faced some close confrontations and met each one with determination. The girls maintained a high level of enthusiasm, talent, and team spirit despite all odds. Next years team looks promising; best of luck to all returning players.

The boy's basketball team had a losing season, but they look very promising for the future as four sophmores saw a lot of varsity playing time. The Sachems were led by captains Mike Blackwood, Matt Groux, and Kevin Thomas, as they posted victories against Watertown, Belmont, Stoneham, and Reading. In the second half the Sachems put it together playing with a much more competitive style against the league's top ball clubs. By controlling the boards Blair Bradley and Jimmy Shattuck helped Winchester end on a good note as they won two out of three of their last ball games.

The hockey team, consisting mostly of underclassmen, compiled a record of 5-12-1. The three seniors, all of whom were tri-captains, John Ferullo, Ian Donahey and Doug Ross, made up the teams only upperclassmen. The season started off strong with a win for the first time since 1973 against Watertown 5 to 3. They then slid to a 1-7-0 record for the first half of the season. The second half of the season was Winchester's best showing in years. The team had a record of 4-5-1 in which all the games were close.

This was the best season since 1974 but next years team should easily surpass the 1981 season and go over the 5.00 mark. The highlight of the season was the game in which Winchester tied Woburn 3-3 with 9 seconds left in the game. This was especially rewarding since it was Woburn and also because they were seated third in the state. Thanks to all the coaches, Mr. Machonochie, Mr. Houghton, and Mr. Cruz who led the team through many sleepless hours of practices. Good luck to next year's team.

Swimming is definitely not a glory sport. We do not have large crowds, cheerleaders or the band at our meets. We get up at 4:30 every morning, and drive to Wakefield for a practice where we swim about two miles in an hour and half. Then why do we do it? One reason is that everyone on the team, except the captains, is a dedicated swimmer. The other reason is, of course, the fun.

Due to the hard work and inspiration (ha! ha!) of team captains Alan Christy and Collin Green we had an improved record of 8-2-1, this year. Nevertheless, Captain Collin and Captain Christy had a hard time keeping ahead of the younger swimmers: Bobby McGillicuddy, the Webber brothers, David Palumbo, Hugh Murray, and Rodney Green. Most improved in diving was Mark Schwartzman with his magic pink beanie. Being one of the smallest teams in the league we were at a constant disadvantage, but with everyone contributing we had a very successful season. We even gave the league superpower, Belmont their most difficult meet of the season, losing to them by one point (the closest Winchester has been to Belmont in seven years).

The Winchester High school indoor track teams had excellent seasons this winter. Both the boys' and the girls' teams had respectable third place finishes in the Middlesex league. This was mainly due to the excellent coaching of Mr. Tom Kline and his assistant Mr. Joe Cantillon. Mr. Kline was unanimously voted coach of the year by the other coaches of the Middlesex league.

The boys team led by captain Ken Jacobson had one of its finest seasons in ten years. Their final record was 6-3, only losing to league powerhouses Reading, Woburn, and Burlington. This was surprisingly good finish for a team consisting mostly of underclassmen.

Superb senior runners were: Kenny Jacobson in the 600 (he had one of the best times in the state prior to becoming ill), Robert Mueller who bettered the school record in the 45 yd. dash, hurdlers Wayne Ciarcia and David Criscione, and Brian Donnellan who finished third in the league in the high jump.

Underclassmen who made valuable contributions were: John Alcione in the 300, Al Chen in the 600, Patrick Kennedy in the mile, Joe Callahan and Peter Quine in the mile. A truly outstanding junior was Paul Manganaro who led the school record in the shot put and was league champ.

Although the girls could not defend their 1980 Middlesex league championship title they too had a great season. They were captained by Andrea deMars, a versatile runner who ran the hurdles when illness prevented her from running the 600. Other seniors who played a major part in the scoring were Prudy Horne who finished second in the league in the hurdles, Mary Boland who ran the 1000, mile or two mile and finished third in the league in the 1000, and our outstanding shot putters, league champion for the second year in a row and school record holder Kathy Durante and finishing fifth in the league Joanne Burke.

The girls team too had a great deal of support from the underclassmen. Most vital was league champion miler Laurie Glynn. Others were: sprinters Jackie Burke and Missy Mead, Suzanne Virnelli in the 300, Sheila Connolly in the 600, Eileen Conley in the distance events and Laura Weylman in the 1000.

The teams would both like to thank the coaches, for making the year so outstanding. Best of luck to next years teams.

Sachem Grapplers vastly improve!

The 1980-81 wrestling team had improved immensely since the beginning of the season. Led by the new head coach, Larry Tremblay and assisted by Ted Neill, the team's persistence and determination will win each member of the team the respect which he so justly deserves.

Combining Tremblay's aid and knowledge of the sport with each wrestler's conscious desire to win, the team is well on its way to a potential winning season. Although led by senior captains Gary Errico, Ed McKenna, and Lee Fotch, the team saw a number of the victories come from juniors, among them Ed Welsh, Scott Carzo, Tom Gibbons, and Jim Barger.

The performance of Gary Errico this season can only be described as awesome! At the midpoint of the season Errico's record was 11-0 with each win a pin. Last year's coach was quoted as saying, "Gary Errico is the best wrestler Winchester has ever had." In the future the team hopes to see many more wrestlers as capable as Errico.

Although we have our faults, we also have our qualities, which we know will prevail. This is our season and we will not fail! Thank-you Coach Tremblay and Coach Neill for our best season. Thanks for listening to our petty excuses, our constant complaints, and thanks most of all for pushing us and making us what we are today — Good luck in the future.

ACTIVITIES

Activities in the year of 1980-1981 have emerged into a collection of different ideas, philosophies, and interests. Clubs varied from the traditional organizations like the Student Union, to the new, student designed one, like the Dungeons and Dragons Club.

The extracurricular activities of W.H.S. represent a student body that is intellegent, innovative, and original.

During January of 1980, the editorial staff of the 1981 Aberjona was chosen. That was where we began our lives as yearbook editors. The past year has brought changes in us all. The yearbook took up a lot of our free time. It wasn't always fun, but it was always an experience.

Through the fights, screams, laughs, and happiness we pulled it out. What you are now reading is the result of editors slaving away on layouts, copy, headlines, and blurbs in the Business Area after school, often until 6:00 P.M. We collected memories and made new friends, and in the process we tried to give W.H.S. a yearbook it would remember.

The editors will always remember: Banging on the door; Blurbs, not burps; Barbara, bring your locker with you next time; No golf pictures???; MYRON!!; Will you guys please grow up!; Who's going to Burlington?; Relax Mr. Kozak; Trying to sell the Aberjona; What are we going to do with all these supplements?; Let's get ORGANIZED!! (Never Mr. Kozak); What's an orchestra? (Hint: No tubas!); Yearbook editors get excited at the strangest things; The chief threatens to resign (but we all know she won't, will she?); Deadlines (We made them and we loved 'em!!)

The 1981 editors would like to thank their faithful typing staff, notably Hils, Pam, Carolyn, Cathy, Ellen, and Diane; Their photographers Mike, Max, and Sandy, lead by head photographer Editor Sartori. (We loved your blurry pictures M.R.) We also appreciate the help given to us by many other parents, students, and faculty members. Last of all we would like to thank Mr. Kozak, our faithful advisor, for his "INPUT", and our business advisor Mrs. Stone. Good luck to next year's editors, our only advice is, "Resign before the deadlines start." (We're only kidding!)

As usual, the Spanish Club was very large this year with a turn out of 150 members. Meetings were held in the evening once a month. This year's officers were President, Nancy Lane, Sr. Vice President, Andrea deMars, Jr. Vice President, Leanne Buehler, Sr. Treasurer Kelly Pappas, Jr. Treasurer, Mimi Macnamara, Sr. Secretaries, Mike Moros, Katie McCarthy, Mary Ellen Cantella, Jr. Secretary, Susan Spera.

The Halloween Costume Party was a big success with special appearances from the Pajama Girls, The Coneheads, and Tarzan! A trip to the Whole World Celebration for food and fun was enjoyed by all. Also, a discussion with Los Americanos, got many students interested in joining their programs. Special thanks to Spanish Club advisor, Ms. Alvarez for making the club enjoyable for all!

The Italian Club had more than fifty members this year and was very active. Aside from our monthly meetings, we had at least one activity a month. Some of our activities included a visit to the Whole World Celebration, a hayride, a Christmas party and caroling, a pizza party and a ski trip. We also participated in the Open House. Three of the Italian Club officers attended and talked to the parents about our club. We have had a very successful year and we'd like to thank Mrs. Innes, our advisor, for making it all possible.

This year's Math Club was as enthusiastic as ever. The club had a new advisor this year and many new members joined the ranks. The changes have been good for the club and its performance improved with every meet. Members competed in style this year with Math Club T-shirts that surely gave WHS' Calculating Crew an edge over the competition.

The Push Button Bunch

The Computer Club is a new club which was formed one year ago. It was organized by Frank Bronzo with the help of other "computerniks". He wanted to organize the efforts of students familiar with the school's computer, and also to help others learn about computers, which are playing an expanding role in our lives.

This year, the club consists of 15 members. Many of whom had to be taught from scratch how to use the computer. The club is made up of students who share a common fascination with computers. The ultimate goal of the computer club is to explore the "Black Box" myth. It is a club that has just begun to work and from which much more will be heard. The 1980-81 Red and Black staff have continued the provocative, interesting news coverage which their predecessors initiated and have made changes in the format and lay-out which has improved the newspaper even more. A new column on the editorial page, written by the staff, and entitled, "The Sachem Speaks" attempts to keep the students abreast of current issues. Editorial cartoons were added this year on a regular basis as were other graphics. The number of photographs used was increased and the clear, crisp photos caught Winchester High in action.

The issues of the eighties were captured in both the editorials and the news stories. Long, tedious layout sessions were required to produce a paper which was not only interesting, but also eye-catching. The success of this year's Red and Black made it all seem worthwhile.

NaTRAB

NTRAB, the acclaimed tabloid of satire and topical commentary, begun two years ago by four truly creative minds, was not continued this year. Instead, the new editors of NaTRAB decided to expand, diversify, and otherwise corrupt a one-time exemplar of journalistic excellence. Pen in hand, rocks in head, and foot in mouth, they did not know where to begin. Faced with the unenviable prospect of having to live up to a legend, they realized that there was no hope. So, rather than struggle to produce a mediocre variation on an old theme, the new editors created an entirely new format. No longer a journal of tasteless humor, biting sarcasm, derisive wit, and slap-stick comedy, NaTRAB has become a journal of biting sarcasm, slapstick comedy, tasteless humor and derisive wit. Clearly a marked improvement. NaTRAB expects to quadruple its circulation by the end of the year. This is not such a staggering goal, considering that NaTRAB did not have a circulation at the beginning of the year.

All kidding aside, the editors are appreciative of the support and praise they have received from their readers.

The Winchester chapter of Delta Epsilon Phi (Deutsche Ehrenverbindung) was instigated this year to promote the study of the German Language and culture. GNHS will be supporting this year's student exchange with Germany and its members will be available to those students of German who require special tutoring.

Only third-year German students are eligible for membership and the small size of this year's GNHS testifies to the significant academic accomplishments of its members. Under the guidance of Advisor Susan Austin, GNHS hopes to become an active part of the extracurricular, as well as academic, life of the High School.

Intelligence Abounds

The National Honor Society was proud to induct 112 members from the Senior Class. This outstanding achievement has been unprecedented in the history of WHS. Those students who have been selected into this honored organization have shown not only excellent academic qualities, but also superior elements of leadership, scholarship, character and service. The purpose of this organization is to provide services to both the school and the community. This year's tutoring program got off the ground due to extensive cooperation and proved to be a genuine success. We would like to express our special thanks to Dr. Wheeler, our advisor, who has helped us make our organization work.

This past year, WHSR-FM grew in many different ways. For the first time ever in its 25 years history, membership exceeded 50 radio enthusiasts.

Just three months short of its 25th anniversary, WHSR was forced to relocate on the FM band. On April 1, 1981; WHSR officially changed its broadcasting frequency from 91.9 FM to 89.3 FM.

Nonetheless, under the direction of station manager, Bob Mueller, WHSR successfully broadcasted home football and basketball games along with town meetings and election coverage. WHSR-FM will continue broadcasting its superior daily educational and musical programming. This year's Seniors would like to wish future staff members good luck and another successful 25 years.

What is the Philosophy Club?

It is the gathering of wandering spirits in search of Utopia. Together they join hands in loving brotherhood as they look into the divineness of the mind. They explore and experience the impossible — the quest for the euphoric state of total oblivion.

Seriously, the pursuit of intellectual awareness has brought together a dedicated core of students, making the Philosophy Club more active than ever before. This club is dedicated to the idea that there is no aspect of man's life that does not illustrate or challenge a moral value or philosophical precept. It is these concepts that we seek to analyze, understand, and perpetuate.

“You're the top — the cream of the crop.” The W.H.S. Stage Band isn't just another high school music group — it's the nucleus of the Music Department. Everyone in the Stage Band also performs when there are musicals at the High School. Music With Class

Mr. Jacobs gets into the music.

The Orchestra, with the addition of the Freshmen and a new conductor surprised many of us. Mark Jacobs took over the task of transforming the younger members and the veterans into the kind of orchestra he could be proud of. With the help of Linda Shea and the cooperation of the members he succeeded. This year, Mr. Jacobs incorporated traditional composers as well as new pieces by Stravinski.

With the loss of Mr. Woodworth, the Orchestra is no longer the same; however, Mr. Jacobs has more than filled his shoes.

76 Trombones . . . or more?

With 153 members this year, the WHS Band ensemble was awesome, and its popularity is still growing. Having had the honor of marching in both the Boston and the Medford 350th anniversary parades, they won many awards including, first place for drum line and fourth place overall in the Medford parade.

On the field, the Band and Miss

Miller strove for perfection as they performed for many enthusiastic fans. The use of fog machines lights and balloons added to the spectacular music that the WHS Band produced.

Behind the uniforms and instruments was a group of students who had a lot of fun together: 7:10 rehearsals, "watch for the horns", ANOTHER PARADE???, Bus rides;

Sachem Singers

In the early hours of the morning, weary students stroll to the distant corner of W.H.S., otherwise known as the Music Department. Here a variety of talented vocalists join to sing under the direction of Burt Cowgill. Some of this years selections made by Mr. Cowgill include "Lift Thine Eyes," "Ave Maria," and "The Green Cathedral." These were performed in one of two show stopping concerts in the Winchester High School Auditorium.

Roxbury Tutoring

Total Organization — W.H.S. tutors pose with their tutees

Most of the W.H.S. students who tutor in Roxbury are asked the same question. Why do it? Why spend every Monday afternoon telling an eight-year-old to sit down and be quiet so that you can explain what subtraction is? Depending on which tutor you ask, you might get any one of these answers: for the smiles, the birthday parties, the hugs, the long-awaited accomplishments, or maybe just for the fun of it. But all the tutors agree on one thing, and that is that the close friendships formed between the tutors and their "tutees" will never be forgotten by either party. Through much patience and frustration, the tutors not only give their time and energy; they receive a lot of love in return.

What made this year's Winchester High School Student Union different? The unprecedented large number of dynamic students who got involved was the key to a successful year. The students' enthusiasm and willingness to commit themselves whole heartedly to achieve a common goal enabled the Student Union to expand. And expand, we did! With the addition of such special committees as the Friday Night Films Committee and the Welcoming Committee, the Student Union was able to reach more students. Not to forget the hard work of such established committees as the Social Committee, Election Committee, Publicity and Advertising Committee, and a revived Model Congress Committee which worked efficiently throughout the school year. The special committees kept up the well established traditions of the Student Union and filled WHS with spirit and pride by sponsoring such events as: the Faculty Tea, Carnation Day and Class Play Night. This was the year in which we came to respect our Student Government. Because of the students of WHS the Student Union was a tremendous success in 1980-1981. The Student Union wishes to express its utmost thanks to the WHS parents, the administration, the faculty, Ms. Nancy Atkins, and our energetic and dedicated advisor, Ms. Randee Martin.

Model Congressmen

The Model Congress Committee had a strong start in 1980-81. After attending two congresses last year, several delegates organized the club into a committee of the Student Union. This year, with the support from the faculty and students, they organized The First Model Congress of Eastern Mass. at W.H.S. In addition, they attended several other congresses in this area including Livingston, N.J. and New Rochelle, N.Y.

At any Model Congress meeting, students take on the duties of senators and representatives. They write, debate, and vote on legislation as they learn the basics of the U.S. legislature. As the current congress finishes its term, delegates from W.H.S. are ready to replace them!

The Science Club flourished in 1980-81. The club was happy to have involved 17 members from every grade in the High School. Under the leadership of our officers, Paolo Coppi, president, and Cathy Chen, secretary-treasurer, the Science Club had an active year. The club's main activity this year was going on field trips. Some of these trips included: a visit to the Science Museum for the Lowell Lecture Series and a visit to Avco. The club met about once every two weeks and conducted its activities in areas of interest to its members. Thanks to our advisors Doctor Wheeler and Mr. Smith, the Science Club had an enjoyable school year.

Mogul Madness

This year's Ski Club had over 60 members participating in ski trips. The Ski Club had two very successful trips to Sugarloaf, Maine. The first was in January, and the second in March. All who participated enjoyed two excellent weekends of great skiing and a lot of fun.

The Ski Club also worked with the Freshmen and Sophomore classes in arranging day trips. These trips were a part of the classes' fund raising activities and proved to be successful in not only raising money but also providing the Sophomores and Freshmen with the opportunity to get out of Winchester and do some skiing.

Overall, with the ski conditions much improved over last year, and with the addition of the Freshmen class, an exciting season of skiing was enjoyed by all members. The members of the Ski Club would also like to say "Thank-you" to Mr. Miller, our advisor, for making our ski season great!

With new director, JoAnn Stevens, the quality of the Curtain and Cue's shows this year was as high as ever. The fall play was a comedy called, "The Curious Savage," a change from last year's more serious play, "The Diary of Ann Frank." Each character was admirably portrayed by students in grades 9 through 12. There was also a large number of people who helped behind the set. The combined efforts of Marina Sartori and Will Moore created a fine set for the actors to work on.

Max Ed

Mara Reece works on the computer for Mr. Sarno

For eight years the Max Ed Program has enabled students to change, to grow, and to learn about themselves and the real working world through first-hand community internship experiences. What do students learn from this? Here are some comments from student's final Max Ed evaluations: From a student who assisted at a nursery school . . .

"I was a teacher's aide. I could give individual attention to a student or to a group of children. I learned the abilities of each child. I watched the children pick up interests and lose them. I became very close to all the students and they became very close to me. I know every child well and their personalities, the way they feel and a lot of times what they are thinking about. I could go on forever answering this question, telling you about each student. I feel this is the best course I have ever had!"

From a student who worked in an architect's office . . .

"I learned all sorts of things. The most important I think is that people get along with me OK, which is important for the average self-centered teenager to know."

From a student who worked in a construction office . . .

"I enjoyed it very much. I enjoyed dealing with people. I learned how to keep my temper at important times and to do well under pressure."

From a student who worked in a hospital lab . . .

"I gained insight into myself and this particular career. I hope that someday in college I will be able to do this kind of thing again. I also feel that this should be a required course for a lot of kids who could explore jobs they might have been thinking about."

From a student who took the probation course . . .

"It was a course which I could relate to the real world — not reading and writing, but more important — what life is about. When you're going through the many courses and subjects in school, you often wonder if it will really be important in your future career. You see successful students that cannot function in the real world, and unsuccessful students that become a success. This course dealt and prepared you better for life. I think experience is the best way to learn . . . Seeing it is believing it."

From a student who worked at a nursing home . . .

"I learned that I love old people, and that they're fun to be with, and that they love young people's attention."

Year after year the Max Ed evaluation results showed that three-quarters of the students rated their Max Ed experience as excellent or very good and more than 80% described their Max Ed course as one of the best of their high school career.

Because of the proposed budget cuts, it appears that 1980-81 will be the final year for Max Ed. We're sorry to see it go and hope that upcoming students will find alternative ways to reap the benefits from community involvement.

Those other two days

There was one activity at WHS in which everyone took part. It had no formal title, no membership fees or advisor. It can be summed up in one word, "weekend!" Weekends were the common interest shared by everyone from the computer gang to the athletes.

Unfortunately, "Mayberry" was more famous for its banks, real estate offices and hairdressers than its nightlife. Despite the lack of special facilities in Winchester, WHS students used their imaginations and succeeded in finding entertainment to fill their weekend hours. Some found it exciting dodging blue and white cars throughout the streets of Winchester. Others found their entertainment away from the confines of "Maryberry" at drive — in movies and discos.

Here's to the partying, aimless cruising, movies, discos, craziness, and boredom. These two pages are dedicated to the two days of the week that made the other five worth surviving.

What do you mean Winchester is boring?

ADS

Those who advertise in the Aberjona have changed our lives in significant ways. First of all, they were the ones who gave jobs to the students of W.H.S. They also have added to our community by offering their goods or services. Lastly, they have helped the 1981 Aberjona and the students by making this yearbook financially possible.

The businesses which advertise in the Aberjona have changed over the years. They have all had to adapt to the changes brought by inflation. There has also been a change year after year in those who advertise in our yearbook. To those faithful advertisers who appear year after year, and also to the new businesses we hope to see again, we offer our thanks for your support.

Higher Education Loans

The value of higher education is well recognized — as is the cost. If your plans include an advanced degree, we can help. Our Student Loan program is open to all qualified students — regardless of family income. All we ask is that you — or your family — have an account with us.

This past school year has brought many changes to every single person at Winchester High School, but not every change has been on a personal level. Obviously, each person has experienced his own particular transitions, but meanwhile the world around us has changed. Not every worldwide change effected the individual, not every school — wide change has effected each student. Every event and transition this world has undergone on any scale this year, however, will always be remembered by those who were living at the time.

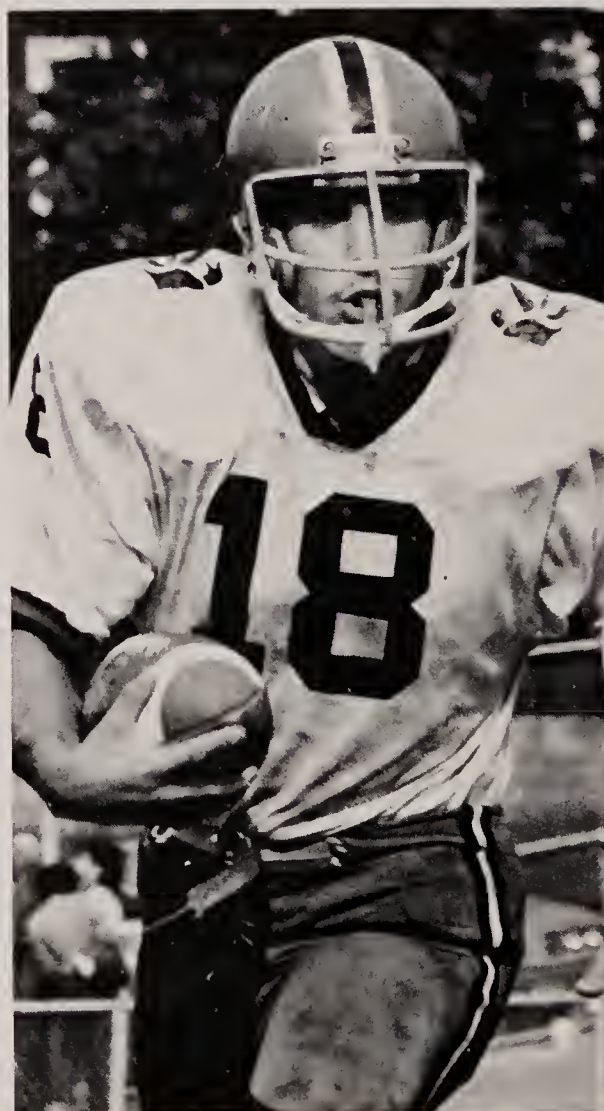

On a worldwide, or nationwide level there were many changes this year which for the most part indirectly effected our lives. These occurrences included the release of the American hostages in Iran, the unrest in El Salvador, and the labor strikes in Poland. In our own country we have seen the election of a new president, Ronald Reagan, the decline of our economic strength, and the murder of John Lennon. These events themselves are probably the least eminent in our own lives, but nevertheless, they do have their place in changing our world.

On a smaller scale we have the townwide, and schoolwide events which have much more directly effected us, such as Proposition 2 ½. This in itself has led to changes in our own school and will undoubtedly lead to more changes in our town and school by cutting down on funds.

It is without a doubt the schoolwide events will be remembered most because they have played the greatest part in changing our own lives. The occurrences which have meant the most to the students of W.H.S. and especially the Class of '81 are the simplest of all: The football team that beat Woburn, the Girls' Soccer team that almost won the states, the undefeated Girls' Cross Country team, the band that marched in Boston, the award winning Red & Black, the weepuls during the Senior Magazine Drive, The Curious Savage a touching comedy, the noisy roof construction on our school, Carnation Day 1981, The Boyfriend a musical set in the roaring '20's, the Senior Semi-Formal, the exchange students from Germany, Class Day, the Senior Prom, and finally Graduation. These are the events which have changed our lives and these are the moments which we will always remember.

Changes . . . Future

The tracks leading away from Winchester to the future.

The changes of the future are very different from the changes of the past or present. They are the only changes which we cannot recognize, cannot control, cannot even anticipate. They are the surprises of the future, the unknown.

The transition from W.H.S. to college — life or a job is very hard for us to appreciate. Although we feel we have been exposed to a lot of the real world, most of us have led very sheltered lives. The changes of the future, the ones which will be met alone by every member of the Class of 1981, are the events which will allow us to face the world as independent individuals. They are the changes which will make us true adults in every sense of the word. The changes of the future will let us explore the unknown, yet someday, the future itself will be the past, living only in our memories.

Will Sarah Hunter be a real Elementary school teacher in five years?

All things change; nothing perishes.
